It's healthy to claim

IF YOU HAVE PRIVATE MEDICAL INSURANCE you may be surprised how easy it is to access services and treatments at your local BMI hospital.

In addition to major treatment or operations, your medical insurance may be used for diagnostic tests such as x-rays and scans, a visit to a consultant and physiotherapy. This guide tells you just how easy it is to get the treatment you need, now.

How to claim

1. Check you are covered
Before you receive any treatment privately, call your medical insurance company (insurer) who can give you the guidance you need and confirm that your policy covers all the tests and treatment you may need.

2. Getting a referral
Most medical treatments start with your GP referring you to a consultant or other specialist, such as a physiotherapist. Your GP must complete and sign your claim form and may charge a small fee for this, which may not be covered by your insurance policy.

3. Seeing the specialist
Your specialist can discuss your treatment and any diagnostic tests with you. It's important that you stay in contact with your insurer to confirm that your treatment plan is covered.

4. Arranging treatment
You can access diagnostic tests and treatment with virtually no waiting. All you have to do is decide on a time that is most convenient for you.

5. Who pays the bill?
Most of the major medical insurance companies settle your bill directly with your BMI Healthcare hospital, and your consultant. However, not all insurance companies have this facility, so your hospital and consultant may send their bills to you for forwarding to your insurer. Your insurer can tell you how they pay claims, and don't forget you will also need to pay any policy excess that you've agreed to.

6. Insurance
Your insurance policy will not normally cover items such as visitors' meals, newspapers or telephone charges, which you will be billed for separately.

To find out more, please contact your local BMI Healthcare hospital or your own medical insurance company.

The BMI Card

Helping you manage the cost of private medical care

The BMI Card is a unique credit card that allows you to spread the cost of health care, allowing you or your family to benefit from treatment at your chosen BMI hospital at a time convenient to you.

Designed to meet your needs

If you need an operation but do not have private medical insurance, most BMI hospitals offer a self pay surgery scheme that will include the consultant surgeon and consultant anesthetist fees. If the consultants charge separately, these amounts may be debited to your BMI Card account, by prior arrangement with your chosen BMI hospital.

If you have private medical insurance, the BMI Card will allow you to manage the costs of treatment not covered by your insurance, which might be, for example, health screening, maternity care or cosmetic surgery.

Six months' interest-free credit for health care purchases

Your minimum payment each month is 5% of the outstanding balance shown on the BMI Card statement, or £25, whichever is greater, (or the outstanding balance shown on the statement if less than £25). If the purchase is paid in full within six months, it will be entirely interest-free.

Attractive interest rate

You may choose your credit limit up to a maximum of £20,000. Thereafter, interest will be charged on the remaining balance of the account at a current rate of 0.79% per month typical APR 9.9% variable.

No Annual Charge

The BMI Card has no annual charge or membership fee.

How to apply

For more information on the BMI Card or how to apply, please call our helpline on 01908 665533.

Terms and conditions

Poppers off

THE Fenny Poppers were fired again yesterday.

The Poppers are six miniature cannon fired on St Martins Day every year on November 11.

The firings took place at 12 noon, 2pm and 4pm and were started by the vicar of St Martins Church, Fenny Stratford, Victor Bullock.

He was joined by the Bishop of Ebbsfleet, Bishop Andrew Burnham and Mayor Jan Lloyd.

The origins of the poppers being fired date back to the eighteenth century.

In 1664, the then Duke of Buckinghamshire sold the manor of Water Eaton with Fenny Stratford and Bletchley to the London physician Thomas Willis. His grandson, Browne, inherited the manor in 1700.

In 1724 Brown Willis bought the site of the former chantry chapel in Fenny Stratford to build a new church for local residents, using funds he raised himself. Completed in 1730 this church was dedicated to St Martin in memory of Thomas Willis who died on St Martins Day. Browne Willis provided for the Fenny Poppers, to be fired on St Martin's Day.

Double trouble for city health workers

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

ASSAULTS on health workers in Milton Keynes have doubled.

This year 113 acts of violence against GPs, nurses and carers from the Primary Care Trust (PCT) have been recorded.

That relates to 80.1 assaults per 1,000 members of staff – double the 40 assaults per 1,000 employees in 2006/7, when 77 violent incidents were reported.

The figures were released last week by the NHS Security Management Service's statistics.

The PCT's rise in assaults is in spite of 781 of its 988 frontline staff having undertaken 'conflict resolution training' in 2004-2008.

In contrast, there was a significant drop in assaults on hospital staff from 77 last year to 44.

This works out as 13.8 assaults per 1,000 members of Milton Keynes General Hospital staff in 2007/8 compared to 28.9 the year before.

However out of 1,000 frontline staff that work for the hospital, just 30 of those have taken the course in resolving conflicts.

Hospital spokesman James Bufford said the majority of the assaults tend to happen in the emergency department.

"We take these statistics extremely seriously and for some years we've had a zero tolerance policy, an on site security team, a police officer with an office on site, CCTV, and we deal with incidents quickly with a full investigation."

Maureen Jamieson, interim head of clinical governance at the PCT, said the apparent increase in incidents is due to better training and awareness among their staff, which has resulted in more incidents being reported.

Plus, Oakhill young offenders centre has begun reporting their violent incidents to the PCT.

"The safety of healthcare workers is a top priority for the PCT; training aimed at protecting these workers against harm is provided regularly," she said.

"We are improving communication with other healthcare providers and social services to ensure that, as far as is possible, healthcare workers are aware of potentially violent or aggressive patients".

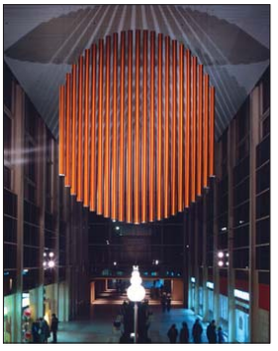
£250,000 sculpture left in heap on floor



Circle of Light sculpture, above, and in a heap on the floor, top

AN artist is angry after her £250,000 sculpture was removed and left on the floor in a storage room at thecentre:mk.

Liliane Lijn made the discovery during a visit to check on the Circle of Light sculpture.

The sculpture, a favourite with shoppers, was recently removed from its hanging position next to Woolworths on Midsummer Arcade.

The American sculptor told MK NEWS: "It's in such a bad condition that it needs to be totally taken apart and stripped.

"It's not exactly the way a museum would look after your work so it was a bit disturbing for me to say the least. I want to see it back in place, looking how it used to and giving people a lot of pleasure."

The huge kinetic sculpture was erected in 1980, measuring 20ft in diameter and commissioned by Milton Keynes Development Corporation and the Arts Council of Great Britain.

It was taken down for minor renovations following a routine Health and Safety inspection.

Robert Goodman, centre director for thecentre:mk, said: "As soon as these renovations are completed the sculpture will be put back up. We are all very proud of this sculpture at the Shopping Centre and will ensure that it continues to be an important public sculpture."

The piece has now been placed in protected storage.

Family home was cannabis factory

Vietnamese tenant did a runner after leaving answer phone message

BY ROB GIBSON

Tracey and Chris Joseph with daughters Catlin, Tamara and Erica outside their house in Westcroft that was turned into a cannabis farm

A LANDLADY is distraught after finding that her former family home has been turned into a cannabis factory by her tenant.

Mother-of-three Tracey Joseph, 33, became concerned when her Vietnamese tenant left an answer phone message on Thursday night, saying: "I'm very, very sorry.

"I had to leave. You can come round tomorrow to clean up."

As alarms bells began to ring, Tracey headed over to the address, in Levens Hall Drive, Westcroft, with her husband Chris.

They found their former home transformed into a humid, pungent cannabis factory filled with up to 500 plants.

A shocked Tracey told MK NEWS: "This was our family home for our children. It's extremely upsetting. I can't even describe how angry I am. One of the rooms used to be my baby's nursery and now it's full of cannabis."

The suspect gave a false name and moved into the four bedroom house in April this year.

Her abandoned clothes were still in the washing machine when Tracey called the police on Thursday night.

On Friday morning the clean-up operation began and a police forensic team searched for fingerprints.

Tracey, who lives in Bletchley Park, with her three daughters, aged nine, two and five-months, has been left to foot the bill for the damage caused to the electrics, doors and ceilings in the house.

World traveller lost in city roundabouts

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A TRAVEL writer who trekked 5,500 miles across some of the roughest terrains in the world was stumped when he tried to navigate through Milton Keynes.

Training consultant Mark Cundy, 42, admitted that the city's roundabouts left him completely lost as he tried to make his way from the city centre to Luton on Tuesday morning.

The experienced hiker, who has written about his travels through Russia, Australia and America, is travelling from Sheffield to London to raise funds for Children in Need.

Mark, from Chelmsford, Essex, said: "How many roundabouts does one city need?

"It's so difficult to find your direction.

"I started well this morning but ended up totally lost.

"It's difficult when you're walking along paths at a subterranean level.

"I got to Newport Pagnell yesterday and it took me two-and-a-half hours to find the Travel Lodge."

After a book signing at Waterstones, Mark ended up lost on Netherfield Estate was forced to knock at the parish council office for directions.

Local business owner Paul Griffiths said: "He called in for directions so we pointed him towards Luton.

Travel book author Mark Cundy lost in Netherfield during his Children in Need charity walk from Sheffield to London gets some help from Parish Wardens Nicky Fulton and Kathryn Bailey

"It can be difficult here because the signs just take you from one estate to another."

Mark uses a pram to carry his luggage, which is limited to five t-shirts, five pairs of boxer shorts and a couple of maps, and spends his nights at B&Bs.

He penned his first book, 'A Man And A Pram', after a 14-month walking odyssey from London to New York in 2005, surviving deep depression in Poland, bitter cold in Russia, and New Year's Eve alone at a run-down bedsit in Eastern Europe.

Mark's latest expedition will finish on Friday night at BBC Studios in London, where he will join Terry Wogan for the Children in Need programme.

Signed copies of Mark's book are available from Milton Keynes at thecentre:mk, priced £7.99 (25 per cent of each copy sold will be donated to Children In Need).

Tory boss visits business park

DAVID Cameron visited the 'heart of the economy' following his speech on tax cuts yesterday.

The Conservative Party leader came straight to Milton Keynes after a press conference in the capital where he unveiled plans to reduce business tax.

Mr Cameron visited the head office and warehouse of Routeco PLC in a business park in Knowlhill yesterday morning.

The company, which has been based in the city for 30 years, distributes electronic components and employs just under 300 people.

He told a press conference in Milton Keynes he chose to visit Routeco as it is companies like this his party wants to encourage to take on new workers as the recession gets tougher.

"Milton Keynes is the heart of the country and heart of the economy," he said.

"Business parks like this is where a lot of people work – it is small and medium size enterprises that are the backbone of the economy.

David Cameron and Chris Grayling are met at the business park in Knowlhill by Routeco director David Wilson (right)

"You have seen a big rise in unemployment sadly in Milton Keynes over the last year and it is a sort of bellwether sometimes for how the economy is doing.

"If measures aren't working here they might be bad for the rest of the country so it is a good place to come."

Mr Cameron was joined on the visit by the shadow minister for work and pensions, Chris Grayling, and met by local Conservative MP Mark Lancaster and founding director of Routeco, David Wilson.

Probe into council tax irregularities

AN investigation is under way at Milton Keynes Council after a whistle-blower made a string of allegations about the collection of council tax.

The person, who has not been named, sent a letter to officers and councillors and the details were revealed in an agenda for the audit committee, which will meet on Tuesday.

The allegations include:

The council tax collection rates have been deliberately manipulated and falsified for the financial year 2007/08.

That deliberate manual adjustments have been made to improve performance reporting.

Bailiffs have been told to concentrate on recent arrears with the implication that was to the detriment of arrears from prior years.

Arrangements relating to bailiffs and the remittance of their fees were used to manipulate the collection rates.

The agenda states: "This report seeks to provide assurance that the matter is being treated seriously.

"The purpose of the investigation is to establish whether any substance or evidence supports the allegations."

A report of the investigation will be submitted to the council's chief executive, director of finance and the Audit Commission.

Let's work together

SIR – I was very disappointed to read that the Conservatives continue to block many of the council's schemes to help local businesses and encourage creating new jobs.

A £750,000 Government grant, (ie at no cost to you and me), would have contributed to schemes including skills training for long term unemployed, recruiting science and maths teachers for local schools, help for the new MK University based at Milton Keynes College, and help for young people and those recently made redundant.

The projects will not go ahead as long as MK Conservatives continue to block their progress, stopping local people helping themselves back into the jobs market.

In these difficult economic times we need to work together, not play political point scoring.

Cathy Jones
Bradville

By the left, or right, quick march

SIR – I found the letter in your October 29 edition from the failed Conservative candidate for Sherington Ward to be both offensive and arrogant.

Why do Tories think that all current and former members of the armed forces are only supporters of the Conservative Party?

His comment 'the Lib Dems new found discovery of the armed forces' was both inaccurate and offensive.

This will be the same Keith Fraser who has in the past attacked former Sherington councillor Pat Seymour for not attending the Remembrance Day parade in Newport Pagnell – this would have been because she was attending the parade in Stoke Goldington, in her own Sherington ward.

I would like to inform Mr Fraser that there are supporters of all three political parties among the ranks of ex-servicemen and women and, in fact, there are more ex-servicemen amongst the ranks of Lib Dem councillors on Milton Keynes Council than any of the other political groups.

The armed forces are here to serve our country and to protect our freedom and democracy, including the right to support and vote for parties other than just the Conservative Party.

Likewise the flag of our country belongs to us all not just parties of the right.

Cllr (Major, retired) Douglas McCall

Equality cash

SIR – Like, no doubt, many of your readers, I was dismayed to learn that a funding crisis is hindering the work of Milton Keynes Equality Council (MK NEWS, November 5).

I have always been immensely impressed by the energy, commitment, drive and enthusiasm displayed by this excellent organisation and it is a disgrace that their work is being adversely affected by a lack of funding.

With their additional responsibilities – now covering six strands of equality – it is clear that they need more money not less.

In these more challenging economic times, the most vulnerable people in Milton Keynes will need extra protection against discrimination.

Warm welcome 'home' to Network Rail move

SIR– I was really pleased to hear that Network Rail has decided to set up its HQ in the city centre.

Despite the legitimate moans about Network Rail's ability to manage engineering works on time, this is important news and could mean as many as 1,000 jobs coming to the city over the next few years.

The rail industry has deep roots in Milton Keynes and it is positive to see Network Rail renew that relationship for the next generation.

I remember being taken around the Wolverton Works on an open day as a child and the excitement of seeing the depot and trains.

Earlier this year, I was privileged to be able to help celebrate the 150th anniversary of New Bradwell which said much about the influence of the railway from the design of houses, through to street names and the development of the local community.

My great-grandparents and grandparents were employed by the 'works' as were many of my other relatives and today, as I am out and about, I still meet many people who also share a personal connection to the railways.

Looking forward, I hope that we can reap the benefits of this renewed relationship with one of our oldest industries.

Network Rail has one of the best apprenticeship and training schemes of any company in Britain. This focus on skills fits well with the new University Centre in CMK and continued success of MK College.

Many staff will be transferring to Milton Keynes from other parts of the country, but we also have the opportunity to see many new engineering and other skilled jobs come to the city.

That can only be good news in the current economic times.

Andrew Pakes
Labour and Co-operative Parliamentary spokesman for Milton Keynes North

As we strive to develop a fairer society, it is vital that our two MPs, Milton Keynes Council and others with influence, work tirelessly and in partnership, to ensure that MKEC has the resources that it needs.

Dave Brunwin
Walton Park

Bus funding a waste

SIR – I was astonished to read in last week's MK NEWS that a 'citizens group' suggested MK Council raise parking charges and council tax to pay for better buses.

The council raises £6-8m a year to be spent on transport issues – the third highest in UK.

They spend approx £2.5m on bus subsidy towards mainly non-profit bus services.

Money also spent on new traffic lights and bus lanes and the rest is a secret as no one will or cannot say.

So MK Council has ample funds to spend on bus services, but why should they?

We have the worst bus services in the UK with buses so old they cannot be used by the majority of disabled people.

I welcome the Government's new Transport Bill which will give more power to local authorities over bus fares, routes and timetablesand set up a legal Passenger User Group which can bite!

So no increase in parking charges or council tax as enough money is raised already.

Peter Billups
Fulwell Court, St Leger Drive, Great Linford

■ SIR – Re 'Parking charges and council tax should be raised to pay for buses'.

Raising council tax and parking charges to pay for better buses? Big mistake.

Seeing the state of the economy as it is, is bad enough.

Why waste the money on something so pointless when we can use it on keeping MK looking fresh and tidy?

Jodanna

More POs could close

SIR – You may be feeling relieved if your particular Post Office escaped the recent cull in Milton Keynes.

Don't be complacent – if the Post Office Card Account contract is awarded to the commercial sector by the Government, another 3,000 Post Offices are virtually certain to close, and this could include yet more in Milton Keynes.

No doubt there will be another 'token' consultation before the closures are announced, but if the previous consultation is anything to go by, the decision will have been made and no amount of public protest will make any difference.

If the Post Office were simply a commercial business, then making decisions based on simple economics would close most of the Post Offices in the UK.

It would make business sense to have just one large Post Office in every town. But the Post Office is not just a business, it provides access to banking for many people who can't get to the High Street banks, it enables people with mobility problems to keep in contact with the outside world from their neighbourhood shopping centre, where the staff know them personally.

How can older customers or customers with small children wait for 30-45 minutes in a large busy Post Office?

If the Post Office is a social service rather than a business, then it needs to be funded differently by central Government.

It is a matter of regret that the local council cannot afford to subsidise any of the six Post Offices that have been closed in Milton Keynes recently but, make no mistake, if a service is for social purposes it should and must be subsidised by central Government, which has let Milton Keynes down badly on this occasion.

Mini roundabouts a maxi challenge

SIR – Good news to hear the works on the MI motorway J14 are nearly completed.

I hope the gain is worth the pain.

Certainly in the last year the A5s Abbey Hill and Portway roundabouts have seen much less congestion at peak times and the traffic lights by Staples have been a great success.

So well done to Milton Keynes Council for its efforts so far and take no notice of the whinging doom merchants who condemn any change as being the end of the world.

So what's next then?

I hope the council has already set its sites on the next hotspots.

My vote goes to the A5/V7 Denbigh mini-roundabouts in Bletchley.

Now there is a challenge for you.

Limo firm drugs dealers are jailed

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

TWO men who used a limousine business as a cover to sell cocaine have been jailed for six years.

Paul Berry, 38, from Kirkwood Grove, Medbourne, and Stephen Jackson, 43, from Lucas Place, Woughton on the Green, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to supply Class A drugs.

On Wednesday at Reading Crown Court, Berry was sentenced to six years and nine months imprisonment and Jackson to six years and eight months.

Berry used his business, Absolute Executive Travel, based in Bletchley, as a cover to supply cocaine.

Jackson is a mechanic who ran a garage in Willowbridge Marina, Bletchley and sold on the cocaine.

A warrant was carried out at his home and garage in July 2007 and £15,000 of cocaine and cocaine-pressing equipment was discovered.

The raids, in August 2007, followed a lengthy and complex operation by the Thames Valley Police Organised Crime Group.

Police also seized £207,350 from a Liverpool man convicted of money laundering.

Gerard Shields, aged 27, was sentenced to 20 months imprisonment on October 24.

Shields, along with four other men, was found not guilty of conspiracy to supply class A drugs.

Paul Berry: Jailed for six years and nine months

Stephen Jackson: Jailed for six years and eight months

Officers investigating the case discovered Shields was in Spain and he was arrested on December, 27, 2007 and returned to the United Kingdom.

An investigation into where the cash had come from was carried out by the Economic Crime Unit and last Monday an application for forfeiture of the seized cash was made at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court.

The court ordered the forfeiture of £207,350 plus accrued interest.

Claire Upton, Accredited Financial Investigator from the ECU, said: "This seizure and subsequent forfeiture sends out a strong message to those involved in criminality that we will continue to use our powers under the Proceeds of Crime Act to actively pursue those who benefit from crime."

Det Supt David Poole, head of Specialist Operations, said: "This has been a lengthy and complex investigation.

"Thames Valley Police have shown that we will not only arrest and prosecute for criminal offences but we will pursue and seize criminal assets.

"The cash forfeiture ordered by the court is considerable and sends out a clear message - crime does not pay."

Masonry tumbles as the training tower at Newport Pagnell Fire Station is brought down to earth

Ground drill only for firefighters as wobbly tower is demolished

THE drill tower at Newport Pagnell fire station has been pulled down after it became unsafe.

Demolition experts have been working on the site since Friday evening after movement was spotted in the structure.

Contractors were installing a telephone mast when the alarm was raised.

The 40ft tower, used to train firefighters to work at height, has been on the site since the fire station was built in 1974.

A spokesman for Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service said: "A contractor was installing equipment on the drill tower on Friday, November 7 and expressed concern that there seemed to be movement of the structure.

"We called in Building Control at Milton Keynes Council, who said it was unsafe and should be demolished."

The demolition experts began work that evening and were on site day and night throughout the weekend.

Firefighters and ambulance service staff based at the station were moved to Broughton fire station throughout Saturday until the tower was brought down to a safe height.

The area has now been cordoned off and the demolition will continue this week.

An investigation into the causes of the problem has been launched by the fire service.

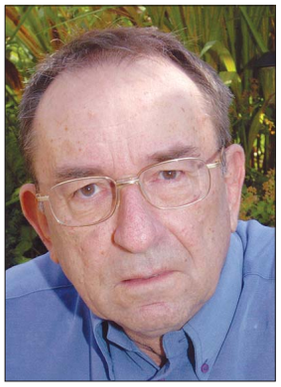
‘People power’ forces rethink on city streets

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

Cllr Isobel McCall: ... a window of opportunity for the council to enter into talks with the developer to see if they would be willing to alter the layout of the WEA to one more in keeping with the aspirations of MK residents



John Napleton: I am delighted at the news there is a possibility of changing the proposals for the Western Expansion Area ... The council can hardly say they haven’t heard the voice of the people

THE council has bowed to pressure to reconsider plans for ‘city streets’ in the Western Expansion Area.

Milton Keynes Council’s leader has said it will enter into talks with developers after another citizen’s group added its voice to the campaign to save the grid roads.

The Focus Group on Roads (FGoR), set up to look at the future of highways in Milton Keynes have released a report. In it the group say the grid system is ‘right for now and right for the future.’

The panel of six city residents was formed by Milton Keynes Council’s environment policy development committee in August and has looked at the pros and cons of both the current road structure and what is planned.

Its report concluded that council approved proposals to build high streets with buildings fronting the road, while having traffic lights is a ‘hotch-potch’ idea that will lead to the expansion areas being seen as a ‘carbuncle lumped on to the edge’ of the city.

It saw the high density development as the ‘ghettoes of MK’s future.’

The group called for the council and Milton Keynes Partnership to use the delays in projects caused by the current economic climate to rethink these proposals and ‘reinstate an infrastructure that works throughout the town’.

Their views are the latest support for the pro-grid campaign, following a recent report by a similar residents panel called the Citizen’s Advisory Group on Transport which commissioned an independent survey of local residents that revealed 87 per cent of the city’s citizens believe the grid roads work.

Council leader Isobel McCall said: “The economic downturn and the resulting delays to the Western Expansion Area (WEA) open a window of opportunity for the council to enter into talks with the developer to see if they would be willing to alter the layout of the WEA to one more in keeping with the aspirations of MK residents.

“Planning permissions have already been given by Milton Keynes Partnership for the western and eastern expansion areas and work is already underway in the east.

“The council has no power to withdraw these planning permissions but we can see if the WEA developer would be willing to reconsider.”

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member for transport added: “It is clear that MK residents have a great affinity with the city’s grid roads and the Lib Dems are committed to maintaining and improving the current grid.

“The recent CAGOT report has come up with a possible solution to square the circle on how to have both grid roads and improved public transport, but the report says it will mean people will need to be willing to pay.”

Pro-grid campaigners have welcomed the news but say the eastern expansion area should be included in the rethink.

John Napleton, former director of Milton Keynes for the Commission for the New Towns, told MK NEWS in September that the council should use the delays caused by the credit crunch to incorporate the city’s original masterplan.

“I am delighted at the news there is a possibility of changing the proposals for the Western Expansion Area and hope this will include underpasses for pedestrians and cyclists and will bring the WEA to the same high standards of construction and development as the rest of the city,” he said.

He believes some areas of the eastern expansion can still be saved ‘if someone listens’.

“The council can hardly say they haven’t heard the voice of the people,” he added.

Theo Chalmers of Urban Eden, which aims to promote a sustainable extension of the original master plan for Milton Keynes, said the council’s announcement shows some dramatic ‘back-peddling’ in response to ‘massive opposition’.

“I am delighted they appear to have come to their senses, but the proof will be in the pudding,” he said.

He added: “I do not think it is too late in the eastern expansion area, I think changes could be made.”

“They must stop building houses on the road and reinstate the A5130 as at minimum a main ‘A’ road, rather than one of their city streets.”

John Hawthorn, chairman of Bradwell Abbey Parish Council who has campaigned to save the grid roads, said: “City streets were right in the days of the horse and cart; consign them to history where they belong.”

John Lewis, chief executive of Milton Keynes Partnership said: “As the planning authority for the expansion areas in Milton Keynes I can confirm that Milton Keynes Partnership has had no approach from the landowners of the Western Expansion Area to vary the planning consent that we granted in autumn 2007.”

Big Red breakfast bus gutted in arson attack

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE owner of a lay-by cafe destroyed in a suspected arson attack is 'devastated' by the loss of his business.

Ken Perkins found the converted coach incinerated when he arrived for work on Wednesday morning.

The Red Bus Cafe, based in a lay-by off the Stoke Road, was gutted by a blaze that is believed to have been started deliberately on Tuesday night (November 4).

Two fire appliances were called to the scene at 11.25pm.

Police closed the road for more than two hours while three gas cylinders were cooled down.

Red Bus Cafe owner Ken Perkins

Mr Perkins, from Tyrells Road, Stoke Hammond, said he has lost up to £6,000 as no insurance company would cover the cafe for arson attacks because it was stationary.

"It is totally gutted, nothing is salvageable," he said.

"I am devastated. It is not a lot of money but when you have not got a lot of money it is. I haven't got a clue what I'm going to do now."

Mr Perkins owned the cafe for two years before selling it in June after his father died.

He went to work as an industrial paint sprayer but lost his job after suffering a major heart attack in August.

When he saw the cafe was up for sale again he decided to buy it back and had been running it for eight days when the arsonists struck.

He is not sure when he will be able to afford to get the burnt-out shell towed away.

"I am a victim of a crime and I have to pay for it," he said.

"If anyone can offer me a short term loan of £5,000 I can buy another coach to replace it."

The cafe was based in the lay-by for 20 years and offered all-day breakfasts and other hot and cold food.

Bob Woolhead, a regular customer who goes fishing on the neighbouring canal, said: "I have been coming for the past five or six years.

"I am disabled so while I am fishing it is really convenient for me to get a cup of tea.

"I am not too pleased about it, to see it like this."

■ Any witnesses to the incident or those with information are asked to call Thames Valley Police on 0845 505505 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Police organise road death memorial

FAMILIES and friends who have lost loved ones in road collisions will unite for a tribute ceremony on Sunday.

People from Milton Keynes will join others from the region for a multi-faith service at St Mary the Virgin Church in Thame, organised by the emergency services and led by the Bishop of Dorchester.

The memorial service will include readings from police officers, fire and rescue workers, paramedics, ambulance technicians and hospital staff as well as prayers from different religions during the service.

Superintendent Mick Doyle, head of roads policing, said: "We want to offer families and friends an opportunity to remember their loved ones in an appropriate setting.

"It is also a chance for emergency service workers to reflect on collisions they have attended and people they have tried to help."

The Force has written invites to all of the families which it has dealt with recently during road traffic collisions, and has appealed for more to get in touch.

Force Chaplain, David Wilbraham, said: "Each year around 150 people die on Thames Valley roads. "The service is open to all and is one of many being held across the world to mark the UN World Remembrance Day for road traffic victims.

"I would especially invite those who want to remember friends and loved ones who have died on roads either within Thames Valley or elsewhere."

Everyone is welcome. To reserve a space call Elizabeth Richardson on 01628 601521.

Ex job finder fears for city youth unemployed

Concerned: Chris Wright

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

YOUNG people are facing a tougher job than ever to find work in Milton Keynes, according to the former manager of the city's youth advice centre.

As the economic downturn bites, Chris Wright, who has 30 years experience with Connexions MK, has voiced his concerns for the city's unemployed youths.

Connexions offers information, advice and guidance for every 13 to 19 year-old in Milton Keynes.

He said: "Youngsters form quite a small part of the market but they are really struggling.

"There must be about 600 to 700 youngsters who are NEET (not in education, employment or training) at the moment and it will just get worse for them.

"The job market is so bad right now."

Mr Wright voiced his concerns that Milton Keynes Council has allowed the service to decline.

But a spokesman for the council said: "There is no reduction in the service or planned redundancies, quite the opposite.

"Changes in the service and demand from young people has resulted in an increase in the number of personal advisors.

"Although economic times are hard, these improvements highlight our commitment to meeting the needs of young people in the Milton Keynes area through employment advice and assistance."

Heritage boss backs shops listing

THE city's shopping centre deserves to be protected from change according to the boss of English Heritage.

Last week MK NEWS reported on an application from conservation body, the Twentieth Century Society, to make thecentre:mk a Grade II* listed building.

The bid, supported by English Heritage, was slammed by thecentre:mk managers amid fears that it would affect retailers and development in the city centre.

During a visit to Bletchley Park on Thursday, English Heritage chief executive, Simon Thurley, outlined his determination to finalise the unprecedented move, which could see one kilometre of the town centre protected from demolition.

Mr Thurley said: "We think it's a very important building.

"It's one of the most significant buildings constructed this century. We feel very strongly that the building should be afforded some sort of protection.

"That protection will not in any way damage its commercial viability.

"Don't worry, this is going to help to secure the iconic status of thecentre:mk."

The Department for Media Culture and Sport will now consider if the building, owned by Hermes and Prupim, meets the requirements to join other prestigious Grade II* listed structures including the Ritz London, Broadcasting House and the Elephant House at London Zoo.

The decision could prevent changes to shop fronts and shop floors, create fixed grid roads and place height restrictions on surrounding building developments.

Hackney Carriage Association chairman Mohammed Nawaz (right) with other members of the association

Cab man's mission

THE new chairman of the city's black cab community is on a mission to save the Hackney Carriage.

Mohammed Nawaz, 50, is concerned that the traditional Hackney Carriage could join other endangered British institutions such as Post Offices and phone boxes.

He said: "I think people have the perception that we are expensive but we are reliable and safe and you know that you will not be overcharged.

"I want to restore the British tradition of the Hackney Carriage.

"Everybody wants to look after the post offices but we should also keep the Hackney Carriages running."

Mr Nawaz was elected in July, taking over from Peter Kirkham to lead a group of 130 drivers who meet once a month.

He feels that his trade has suffered as much as any other with the current economic downturn.

"This year we haven't increased our fares because these are tough times and we take the public viewpoint first," Mr Nawaz said.

"I'm trying, in Milton Keynes, to create a better environment for our trade, to create more work for the drivers and a safer journey for the public. We are cooperating with Milton Keynes Council and the police to make it safer for people."

A spokesman for the Department for Transport said: "Hackney Carriages are certainly safer than unlicensed taxis.

Sir Francis Richards, Simon Greenish and Dr Simon Thurley on the mansion house roof

Grant will restore roof on mansion

ENGLISH Heritage has joined the fight to save the home of the code-breakers by pledging up to £600,000 for repairs.

Dignitaries shook hands at Bletchley Park on Thursday, sealing a £330,000 grant to help save the decaying roof of the mansion.

The money represents a significant step towards saving the crumbling site, which is desperately short of funding, as revealed in MK NEWS in January.

Milton Keynes' most important historical site is recognised by historians for its vital role in helping the Allies to win the war.

The 17th century mansion was the hub of Churchill's codebreaking operation during the Second World War.

Bletchley Park director Simon Greenish met with English Heritage chief executive Dr Simon Thurley and posed for photographs in front of broken roof slates.

Mr Greenish said: "This is a very important day for Bletchley Park, it's a huge step forward for us. It's a substantial grant that will allow us to refurbish the roof, which has reached the end of its life, plus many of the external features."

Dr Thurley said: "Generally speaking we don't put big grants into Grade II listed buildings but it's because of the extreme importance that captures the imagination and touches the lives of people in this country.

English Heritage has pledged a further £300,000 over three years provided the sum is matched by other investors.

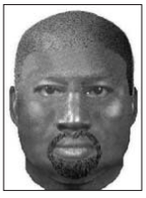
Bag snatcher sought

THIS man is wanted by police after snatching a schoolbag from a 13-year-old girl.



The girl was walking home from school with two friends when a black man on a bicycle grabbed her bag.

She tried to stop him and struggled to keep hold of the bag, knocking the man from the bike as he tried to cycle off.

The group ran home and called the police.

The incident took place on a footbridge in Greenleys at about 3.15pm on Thursday, October 9.

PC Amanda Hall said: "This was an upsetting incident for those involved and they have all been very brave.

"The description they gave of the offender was very detailed and we hope someone will be able to help us identify him from the E-fit.

"I would urge anyone who thinks they know who this man is to contact us as soon as possible."

If you think you know this man contact PC Hall on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Firefighters join rally

MORE than 50 city firefighters are to join a national rally against the growing number of fatalities in service.

The firefighters are to lobby Parliament in Westminster today (Wednesday, November 12).

They will ask politicians to take action following national research that revealed firefighter deaths have gone up sharply over recent years.

Eight firefighters died on duty in 2007 alone, the highest annual figure for over 20 years.

In Buckinghamshire there has been a reasonably good record of firefighter safety, but the Fire Brigades Union says proposals published in October by Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Fire and Rescue Service will place this in serious jeopardy.

The union says the service's plan to reduce the number of firefighters that crew appliances and to have a retained crew on the second appliance at Great Holm fire station will see the loss of around ten per cent of front line firefighters.

It is calling for more funding for the local service, so that resources are kept at a level which is safe.

Ricky Matthews, secretary of the Bucks Fire Brigades Union said: "Put simply, if there is not enough money then there is not enough training; not enough risk assessment; not enough front line firefighters.

"Ministers have to realise that this is an essential service and it must be adequately funded."

College in running for Prince's Trust awards

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's college is up for two charity awards for its work with disadvantaged young people.

Milton Keynes College and a member of its staff have both been nominated for their work with the Prince's Trust team programme.

All the finalists have been selected from the more than 3,000 young people supported by the Princes Trust charity in the South East over the past year.

Ben Smith, 27, a team leader at Milton Keynes College, is in the running for the Premium Credit Leadership Award for his work with some of the area's most vulnerable and hard to reach young people.

He was nominated due to his dedication and remarkable ability to engage young people on the charity's team programme.

Of the six 12-week personal development team programmes Mr Smith has run, three of them have finished with 100 per cent of the young people going on to education, training or employment.

Mr Smith said: "I do this job because it's really satisfying and the young people are great fun to work with.

"It's very flattering to be recognised for doing something you love."

He will be supported at the event by the college, which is also down to the final three for the Hampshire County Council Partnership Innovation Award for their excellent delivery of The Prince's Trust team programme and their proactive and creative approach to helping young people.

The nominees find out who scoops the award today (Wednesday, November 12) at the Celebrate Success awards ceremony, taking place in Newbury, Berkshire and hosted by BBC presenter Chris Hollins.

Pupils move next door into a school with soul

PUPILS from Water Hall Primary School have moved into their new school building.

Staff and students at the school in Bletchley made themselves at home in the new facility, right next door to their old one, on Monday, November 3.

Water Hall is the first existing school in Milton Keynes to be completely rebuilt.

The £6.7million project, funded and delivered by Milton Keynes Council, has seen the creation of a brand new school building containing bright modern classrooms, a sensory room, a dedicated nursery and foundation class area and spaces for the community to use for a range of activities.

Each class also has its own private patio space for outside learning which the children helped to landscape.

The whole school is centred around an internal courtyard with kaleidoscope area, thought to be the only one of its kind in the country, that uses colour, light and sound to help children develop mentally and emotionally.

Headteacher, Tony Draper, said: "It was clear that people didn't want an intimidating building, but a place with a soul, and that's exactly what's been achieved.

"This building has been living from the start and we are very excited to be moving in and bringing yet more life into the place."

Cllr Sandra Clark, lead member for children on Milton Keynes Council, said: "This is a fantastic school. I am thrilled that a successful bid for government funding and three years of planning and hard work has delivered such a wonderful end product."

Olney school keeps on improving

OLNEY Infant School has been graded as 'outstanding' in every single category at its recent OFSTED inspection.

In the report, inspectors praised the excellent curriculum and outstanding teaching.

The report said that standards in reading, writing, maths and science were exceptionally high, with the proportion of pupils exceeding the expected levels being much higher than the national average.

To conclude, OFSTED said that the school is 'innovative and energetic, works in excellent partnership with parents and that all staff and governors are highly effective and a credit to their school and community. The school's capacity to keep on improving is excellent'.

Headteacher Steve Dunning said: "This is a fantastic school and we are delighted that OFSTED have confirmed what we already knew. All the staff, governors, pupils and parents can be proud of their achievements."

Chairman of the governors, Jeremy Rawlings, said "Everyone has worked hard to achieve this result.

"I am proud to be associated with such a brilliant school."

Hospital worker in NHS birthday book

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A WOMAN who survived a major brain haemorrhage has been honoured in a book celebrating the NHS' 60th anniversary.

Linda Daly, a clinical governance project manager at Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (PCT), has been recognised for overcoming significant adversity.

She was chosen from hundreds of nominations to appear in 'Extraordinary', a book by NHS employers that features stories from 60 NHS staff from across the UK.

Each story illustrates the positive impact NHS staff make to the lives of millions everyday.

Mrs Daly's story, titled 'I'm passionate about the NHS because I'm passionate about people', tells how she had worked in the NHS for over 20 years when she suffered a major brain haemorrhage in 2004. Two thirds of people with the same severity of haemorrhage either die or are left with a substantial disability, but Mrs Daly was fortunate to make a full recovery.

She says this is thanks to the excellent care she received from NHS staff.

"It is a real honour to be chosen for this book from so many contributions," she said.

"I am passionate about working in the NHS and have been privileged to experience first-hand the amazing care provided by the doctors, nurses, healthcare assistants and domestic cleaning staff who aided my recovery.

"I am delighted to represent the healthcare professionals in Milton Keynes who work so hard to deliver high quality care to local people."

The book is available to buy at www.nhsemployers.org

Wartime spirit invoked in community clean-up

VOLUNTEERS borrowed an air raid siren from Bletchley Park to kick of their own style of blitz last week.

The Wylie Drop-in Centre in Bradville saw a Second World War-themed community action day, with residents joining together with the Community Safety Partnership to clean up the area.

The wartime spirit of the volunteers, who collected 53 bags of rubbish, was started at 11am with the sound of the air raid siren.

Shelagh Muir, Senior Community Liaison Officer from Milton Keynes Council, said: "The day was a fantastic example of local agencies and residents working together. It was the first of a series of events aimed at improving the area."

A sack of daffodil bulbs and 96 winter pansies, donated by Dobies Garden Centre, were planted by Bradville Junior Rangers. Locals and members of Bradville North End Residents Association helped MKC Landscape Services to cut back overgrown bushes.

Drowned Ferrari fan in tiff after GP race

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN inquest has been opened into the death of a Grand Prix fan found dead after the final race of the season.

The body of Virginio Da Ros, 46, from Katrine Place, Bletchley was spotted by a passer-by floating in the Grand Union Canal near bridge 98, at Stoke Road, Water Eaton on Monday, November 3.

An inquest, opened on Thursday, November 6 heard he was last seen by his son at 7.20pm the day before, when they had a minor disagreement over the Grand Prix.

Mr Da Ros was an avid supporter of Ferrari.

Mr Da Ros left the family home and was reported missing to the police by a member of his family at 6.46am on Monday morning after failing to return.

His body was spotted at 10.15am and was recovered by police underwater search teams four hours later.

The canal was cordoned off from bridges 97 to 99 for most of the day.

Mr Da Ros, a machine setter, was born in Italy and lived in Milton Keynes for 10 years.

His wife, Gracia, was born in Bletchley and is a cleaner.

The inquest was adjourned to await the full results of a post-mortem carried out last Tuesday, which revealed drowning as the cause of death.

Police are not treating the death as suspicious.

Members of the search and rescue team team head to the scene where Virginio Da Ros' body was found in the Grand Union canal

Rich Dad Poor Dad

My Poor Dad would say, "I Work For My Money."
My Rich Dad said, "My Money Works For Me."
Robert Kiyosaki

One dad was highly educated and intelligent; he had a Ph.D. and had completed four years of undergraduate work in less than two years. He then went to do his advanced studies... all on full financial scholarships.

My other dad never finished the eighth grade. Both men were successful in their careers, working hard all their lives. Both earned substantial incomes.

Yet my highly educated dad struggled financially all his life and the other dad would become one of the richest men I had ever known. One died leaving tens of millions to his family, charities, and his church. The other left a legacy of unpaid bills. Both men were strong, charismatic, and influential.

Both men offered me advice, but they did not advise the same things. Having two dads as advisors offered me the perspective of contrasting points of view: one of a rich man and one of a poor man. This forced me to think about, and ultimately choose, a way of thinking for myself. A way of thinking that assures long-term wealth and true prosperity!

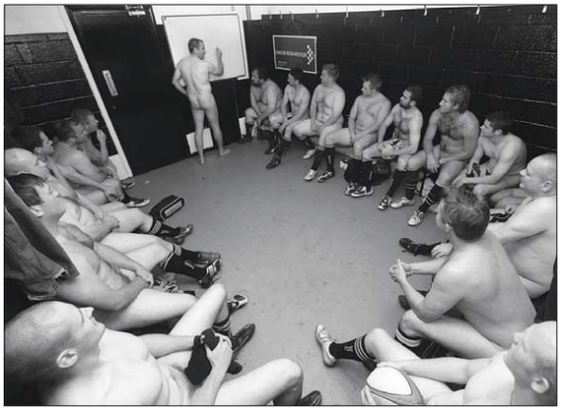
Rugby players get their kit off

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk



Team talk: Milton Keynes Rugby Club members pose for May

RUGBY players from the city's club have shown off all but their tackle in a fundraising calendar.

Members of Milton Keynes Rugby Club stripped off their kit to expose their talents off the pitch for the club's first nude calendar, called 'Odd Shape Balls 2009'.

The lads braved the cold weather this September to pose for the 'Calendar Girls'-style photos on the pitch, in the club's changing room, at the bar, in the showers and bath.

Half of the money raised will go towards funds for the club's move to a new facility in Emerson Valley in 2009 and the rest will go to Cancer Research UK.

More than 20 players and club members aged between 18 and 60 took part and all are featured in the final product.

Dave Matthews, first team player for the club who organised and stars in the calendar, said: "It is very tongue in cheek and although it is nude it only shows bums.

"We have one shot obviously with a ball in front of the old tackle, some in the bar with pints in front, a couple running across the pitch and one of our kicker kicking the ball through the posts."

He said they had to move quickly when taking the photographs outside on the pitch so they didn't shock any passers-by.

"Our club pitches are quite secluded so it was a case of getting a towel around you, quickly removing it and back again. There was no one around as it was a Sunday afternoon. It was quite funny to do, the guys loved it.

"I wasn't sure at first if they would be up for it but they love to get their clothes off. It was also good to unite the team."

The club needs to raise £50,000 to pay for furniture, changing rooms, a bar, lighting, plumbing and other equipment in their new building, which is to be leased from Milton Keynes Council.

The calendar, which has been put together by an experienced photographer and professional designer, was released on Friday, November 7 at the club's annual fundraising Gala Dinner.

They hope to raise £10,000 from its sale, half of which will go to charity.

■ The calendar is available at £10 from www.mkrufc.com, on Ebay or by e-mailing dave.matthews.mk@hotmail.co.uk

Bedford High School for Girls

Bedford High School for Girls continued to welcome many new girls through its doors this at the start of this term. Mrs Julie Eldridge, Head of the school said that "Recruitment to the school has been buoyant and BHSG continues to be one of the larger girls' schools in the UK. There have been more girls starting at the school this year than last, and Sixth Form numbers for A level and IB remain healthy."

She puts the school's ongoing success down to continued excellence academically, as well as in sport, the arts, and the wide range of extra curricular activities that the school is able to offer its pupils.

Exam excellence

Once again, pupils who sat their exams in June were rewarded with an excellent set of exam results.

At GCSE, 92 per cent of all students gained at least one A* or A grade, 37 per cent of the year group achieved at least 10 GCSEs, 41 per cent of the year group had an average score of between A-A*.

13 girls gained all A* and A grades, one pupil, a delighted Julia Danskin, achieved a full set of 10 A* grades.

At A level, there was a 100 per cent pass rate; 43 per cent of the results were grade A, 23 per cent of girls got at least 3 A grades, the five girls who took the English Advanced Extension Award all achieved distinctions.

"It has been a hard-working and extremely successful year", said Julie Eldridge, "Our Sixth Form students have worked with the utmost dedication and should be proud of the outstanding results they have achieved. Overall, 76 per cent of the girls who left us this summer, achieved the top A Level and IB (International Baccalaureate) grades."

"This rate is tremendous", continued, Julie Eldridge, "with the majority of girls securing places at their first choice universities. A Level students Elizabeth Muller, Tianyi Zhang, and Jie Ma are also to be congratulated on their places at Oxford! A fantastic year all round!"

AS level pupils who deserve a special mention include: Tiffany Chan and Agatha Chzou who each achieved 5 As at AS Level, Head Girl Eleanor Piggott was congratulated by Edexel on achieving one of the top 10 grades in the country for History, A further 12 students at Bedford High School for Girls gained four As at AS Level.

Sporting prowess

Bedford High School for Girls is well known for its sporting prowess. Pupils at the school actively participate in a wide range of curricular and extra curricular sport. In fact, the school has recently defended a number of championship titles. In hockey, the BHSG teams are currently:

Under 13 A Bedfordshire Schools Hockey League
Under 13 B League Champions
Under 14 Bedfordshire County Hockey Tournament
Under 16 County Champions.

The school's lacrosse teams are also in good form and playing well. You can read a full commentary about all of the school's matches and other sporting events on the BHSG website: www.bedfordhigh.co.uk/results.

Judo, badminton, swimming, equestrian, athletics and rowing are among the many sports that continue to prove popular with pupils from the Junior School through to the Sixth Form.

Exploring and developing

In addition to many of the trips that the girls go on as part of the curriculum, and which are included in the school's fees, pupils at the school have recently been on visits including: Castleton, Iceland and Washington.

To help the girls develop their talents, achieve their potential and leave us as a confident young woman, the school offers pupils a very large range of extra-curricular activities.

Two activities that are extremely popular with older girls in the school are the Combined Cadet Force (CCF) and the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme. Both of these activities offer the girls opportunities to develop their leadership and team building skills, as well independence. Very useful attributes to demonstrate to universities when going through the application process.

Across the Junior School, Senior School and Sixth Form, there are around 150 different clubs, societies and extra curricular initiatives on offer – including, music, drama, dance, sport – and the school's pupils manage to find at least one activity that suits her interests, age, and time.

Shh - TV favourites film in Food Hall

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

CELEBRITY duo Ant and Dec have been in Milton Keynes doing a spot of Christmas shopping.

The television favourites used the Sainsbury's store in the Food Hall, which has now been vacated, to film an advert for the supermarket's Christmas range.

And they are not the only famous faces in the promotion, chef Jamie Oliver makes an appearance to pass on his cooking tips to the Saturday Night Take-Away presenters.

Workers from the Food Hall store, who have moved to the new Sainsbury's in Witan Gate, feature in the backdrop.

General merchandise assistant, Geoff Merton, said: "I've worked at Sainsbury's for 19 years. My store manager asked me if I wanted to be involved in the ad and I jumped at the chance.

"We were told we couldn't tell anybody about the filming, I couldn't even tell my wife.

"I really enjoyed myself, it's been very interesting.

"Jamie and Ant and Dec came over and we met them, and we had a bit of a chat with Jamie earlier during takes, he was really nice. But I didn't ask for their autographs – I don't think I could walk around with them in my pocket and not tell anybody!"

Ant and Dec meet up with Jamie Oliver in the old Food Hall Sainsburys

The advert follows Ant and Dec shopping for their Christmas party, loading their trolley with nothing but pickled onions and pineapple chunks.

Thankfully for their festive guests, Ant and Dec accidentally crash trolleys with Jamie who offers them a helping hand.

He heads back to their house and shows them how to whip up some quick and tasty, festive treats.

Gwyn Burr, customer director of Sainsbury's said, "We're delighted that Ant and Dec have joined Jamie. In every take, their personalities and sense of humour shone through. For us, they embody the meaning of Christmas cheer and, alongside Jamie, they make cooking tasty, accessible and above all, fun".

The advert will launch tonight during Coronation Street on ITV1.

Sheringham scores as Women's Aid fundraiser

FIRMS from across the region showed their determination to battle through the credit crunch at the annual Inside Ex Milton Keynes business conference and exhibition at stadium:mk last Friday (November 7).

Financial and marketing experts gave their advice on how to prosper under a difficult economic climate while former England football star Teddy Sheringham was the guest speaker at the event's charity lunch held at the homes of MK Dons football club, stadiummk.

Sheringham, 42, signed several England football shirts which were auctioned for Milton Keynes Women's Aid.

He said: "I'm happy to be here for the first time to support such a worthwhile charity. It's important to give a boost to the fundraising event."

Sheringham also posed with fans beside the Barclays Premiership Trophy.

Coleen Kelly, from the charity, accepted a cheque for £1,182. She said: "We are very grateful to Paul and Alan at Inside Business for organising this event and choosing Milton Keynes Women's Aid, which provides such an important service to the local community."

Football star Teddy Sheringham with Premier League trophy

Paul Price, of Inside Ex MK, said: "We created a winning atmosphere at this year's Inside Ex MK by having the Barclays Premier League trophy and Teddy Sheringham there to liven things up.

"By encouraging a winning mindset in firms in the region we can limit the effects of the ongoing credit crunch.

"Times are tough right now but I think many people are talking themselves into recession when just being more pro-active and less gloomy could help turn their fortunes around. That's why we declared this year's Inside Ex Milton Keynes a recession-free zone and urging firms in the region to 'think local'.

"Rather than, for example, sourcing their printing services from, say, Southampton, they may find there's someone just as good round the corner.

"A big cross section of businesses appeared again so it was a great networking opportunity."

Prisoners can write free to Samaritans

THE city's jail is to offer freepost envelopes for prisoners to write to a charity for emotional support.

Woodhill Prison, in Tattenhoe Street, is to participate in the new initiative by Samaritans.

The envelopes will allow inmates to contact the charity without paying postage costs and in complete confidentiality.

The charity has set up the scheme due to the high rate of self harm in jails.

Prisoners in England and Wales are seven times more likely to take their lives than an average person in the UK, with the first 48 hours spent inside a prison the time when people are the most vulnerable.

Woodhill governor Luke Serjeant said the prison would certainly be participating in the new scheme.

"I take self harm and suicide risk very seriously and have a range of measures in place to help us deal with what is a difficult and sensitive area for us and this will certainly help," he said.

If prisoners would rather talk face to face with someone about their problems Samaritans operates a Listener scheme at Woodhill, whereby selected prisoners are trained to offer confidential emotional support to their fellow inmates.

Prisoners can also contact Samaritans by telephone and all prisons have direct lines to either their local branch or the charity's national number.

Sri Lankan refugee died in H8 car crash

A 26-year-old political immigrant living in Coffee Hall has died following a car crash.

Karunakaran Kanthasamy, who lived in Jonathans, died at Milton Keynes Hospital on Friday, October 24.

An inquest opened on Tuesday, November 4 heard he was driving a blue Honda Civic when it pulled out of the junction from Chapter, Coffee Hall, to turn right onto the H8 Standing Way at about 8pm.

His vehicle collided with another car driving eastbound on Standing Way.

Mr Kanthasamy was taken to hospital where he was confirmed dead at 9.15pm.

The inquest was adjourned until June next year to await post mortem results.

His family told MK NEWS he was a political immigrant from Sri Lanka who had failed to gain permission to stay in the country, but was appealing the decision.

He had been living in Milton Keynes for two years and worked at Fedex.

His room mate, Krishnakumar Saravanamyth, said: "He was an easy-going, nice guy. It is a terrible thing that has happened."

Karunakaran Kanthasamy: Inquest adjourned

Broken foot after taxi hit

A PEDESTRIAN was left with a broken foot after he was hit by a taxi.

A passer-by witnessed the collision, at 10.30am on Friday, in Lammas, Beanhill, and took the victim to Milton Keynes Hospital.

The man is awaiting surgery after sustaining three broken bones in his left foot and bruising and cuts to his right foot.

Police have appealed for the good Samaritan to get in touch.

DC Paul Summerville said: "We believe that the man who stopped to help saw what took place and could help us progress our investigation.

"He is a valuable witness and I would urge him to contact us if he sees this appeal. I should stress that this is not a non stop collision but we do need this man to come forward as he is an independent witness."

Anyone with information can contact DC Summerville on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

LONG LIVE THE QUEEN
Frank Turner

Charity and singles. Two words that usually make me wonder about the sanity of the British record-buying public.

Most of the time it's some ancient 'classic' that's been brought down from the attic, hurriedly re-recorded with the latest stars of the day, and if there was any genuine feeling and emotion invested in the original you can pretty much guarantee that it's all been polished away in favour of something safe, boring and magnolia.

However, because it's all for a good cause, people lap 'em up.

There's my problem with charity singles, then – I have no problem with spending money on good causes, but in return I'd like to have something worthwhile that I'd want to listen to again and again, otherwise why not just give the cash directly to the charity?

That way, the charity does very nicely out of it as it should, and you don't have a CD or download in your collection that you'll probably never play again once it's dropped out of the chart.

Now, I'd never heard of Frank Turner before, for all I know he could've been the landlord at that pub near Emmerdale Farm, but how in the wide, wide world of sports has he managed what Gareth Gates, Boyzone, Hale and Pace and all the others over the years couldn't achieve?

He's not only done a charity single, he's absolutely nailed it in every department possible.

The best way to sing about something is to experience it yourself, and here he's singing about a friend of his who died from cancer.

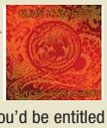
So far, so miserable you might think, and to be fair that would be the easy way out, but Frank takes the other option.

In lesser hands, this song could've been a sentimental dirge sung by one or more grinning idiots swaying from side to side in front of an appreciative audience of grannies, children and music moguls, but instead we have a positive, defiant, 'onwards and upwards' message.

While he's singing about seeing his friend during her last days he thrashes his guitar until it almost falls apart, and only at the end when he recounts the aftermath does the song slow down a touch, but even then, while the lyrics sound a little sad and melancholy, there's a hint of 'life goes on for the rest of us', which is precisely how it should be.

What makes this song pretty much flawless is the almost total absence of any sentimentality whatsoever – there's no flowery language, instead he tells it like it is and because the lyrics read like a story it draws you in. Well, it drew me in at any rate.

This is Frank Turner's way of doing something to sort out breast cancer. He couldn't possibly have done a better job if you ask me, because this is that rarest of things – a perfect song.



CHENESE DEMOCRACY
Guns N' Roses

FOR such a long absence you'd be entitled to expect something rather akin to a full-on sonic assault that could melt diamonds, or perhaps instead a song that would justify the long wait.

I rather like the sonic assault approach myself, and apparently so too did Axl Rose.

This is proper old school metal of the sort that not too many bands do these days and it motors along like a rabbit at a dog track But despite all the wailing guitars and the rather nice atmospheric build-up at the start, the overwhelming feeling I got was 'Is this it?'. If anything, this song is actually too short – just as it's really getting going it stops. It's not quite the statement of intent I thought it might be, more a 'business as usual'.

FILM REVIEW: PRIDE AND GLORY

PRIDE and Glory does have a bit of a 'been there , done that' feeling about it, which is not surprising because we have been there and we have done that plenty of times before in cop films.

However there are some pretty heavyweight actors here and it's a generally well put together movie.

New York officer Colin Farrell is taking part in a football game when the call comes in that sends the department into a frenzy of activity. Four cops, men who served alongside Egan, have been gunned down during what appears to have been a drug bust.

The killer's still on the loose, and a special task force is set up to capture the murderer.

His brother-in-law, Ray, an officer with a troubled history - is also one of the officers on the scene and also gets involved in the investigation.

Ray's decision to get involved places him back on the streets and smack-dab in the middle of a case which he's quickly figuring out has to do with corrupt police officers, chief amongst whom it seems may well be Mr bushy eyebrows Farrell.

Edward Norton is good (as usual) playing the decent cop.

I couldn't quite make my mind up about Colin Farrell in this one.

Some people are saying he overacts massively in it and some are giving him rave reviews so I will leave you to decide that one yourself. I preferred him in In Bruges though.

So not an original film, but a pretty enjoyable one, and worth a look.

RODDY FRAME
Monday, November 17
WITHOUT question Roddy Fame is one of the greatest songwriters Britain has ever produced.
His first album, High Land Hard Rain, was released in 1983 under his Aztec Camera nom de plume and was a catalyst in the birth of the indie movement. A succession of albums and hit singles followed, including Somewhere In My Heart, How Men Are and Good Morning Britain. Deft with lyrics and with a now beautifully mature voice, he's still on quietly magnificent form.

EVE SELIS
Tuesda.y November 18
MORE than just a singer Eve Selis is an emotion transducer who converts country, R&B, blues, folk and rock'n'roll signals into a megawatt zap that galvanises anyone in its path. MK THEATRE

NOISES OFF
Until Saturday
OVER a million people have wept with laughter at Michael Frayn's sharp and witty multi-award winning comedy so don't miss the chance to get your hands on the hottest ticket in town.

Noises Off is a glorious comic romp, which offers two plays for the price of one.

While the traditional British comedy Nothing On is being performed, a real life charade unfolds backstage during the show's final rehearsal and the ensuing disastrous tour.

Watch as the actors make their exits from one play, only to find themselves making entrances into the other – and back again.

GLYNDEBOURNE ON TOUR
Tuesday, November 18-Saturday, November 22
The Magic Flute – Tuesday and Saturday
Carmen – Wednesday and Saturday
Hansel and Gretel – Thursday
THE MAGIC FLUTE
MOZART'S last completed opera is an exotic fairytale that tells the story of a quest for love and enlightenment.

The adventure is a consistently entertaining mix of popular melodies, lyrical arias and staggering virtuosity.

Audiences have been enthralled by this vivid and colourful production by celebrated director Adrian Noble and it will be brought to life by conductor Douglas Boyd, making his operatic debut.

Sung in German with English supertitles.

CARMEN
THE premiere of Carmen was considered a failure and denounced by critics as 'immoral' and 'superficial', yet the work is now widely recognised as one of the greatest operas of all time.

When composing Carmen, Bizet moved as far away as he could from the traditional opera-comique that audiences of the time expected, incorporating an anti-heroine, disreputable female factory-workers, smugglers, immoral soldiers and a murder on stage.

Infused with gypsy passion, this torrid tale of corruption, jealousy and obsession has been realised to exhilarating effect by director, David McVicar.

Sung in French with English supertitles.

HANSEL AND GRETEL
PREMIERED in 1893, Hansel and Gretel is Humperdinck's first opera and has been a constant and extraordinary success.

Described by Richard Strauss as "a masterpiece of the highest quality", the opera combines romanticism, lyricism and exuberant playfulness in vibrantly rich orchestration that is clearly influenced by the music of Brahms and Wagner.

Like all great fairy tales, the story has darker underpinnings, evident in Humperdinck's brilliant orchestral writing which accompanies the lost siblings' journey through a shadowy world of unknown and limitless menace.

Sung in German with English supertitles.

Our city's woodland wonders

AS the colours of the leaves turn it's a really great time of the year to take a closer look at your local trees and explore the beautiful woodlands on your doorstep.

People love trees for their majesty, texture, changing colours, sound and movement.

Old trees provide a sense of place and heritage, some are meeting places and others become major landmarks in the landscape.

With its tree-lined boulevards, ancient woodlands, new plantations and beautiful parkland Milton Keynes is famed for being a city of trees.

With over 22million trees, its easy to take them for granted but without them the city would lose its identity, our wildlife would lose valuable habitat and our landscape would lose its rich diversity and beauty.

Whilst many places in the UK have suffered severe tree loss Milton Keynes has enjoyed extensive planting since the 1960s and future generations are assured of a city full of interesting trees.

Caring for many of the city's trees is a major undertaking that requires constant maintenance.

Foresters, working on behalf of The Parks Trust, can often be seen working on the parks and grid road plantations.

Sometimes tree work may appear like radical change, however as trees grow they need space to stretch their branches and root systems if they are to remain healthy.

The Trust uses traditional methods of tree management, such as coppicing, to ensure trees and shrubs retain their colour, they don't become too dense and that views and sightlines are maintained too.

Though many of our trees are young, the city has some old and magnificent trees. It has three ancient woodlands (Shenley Wood, Howe Park Wood and Linford Wood) and many mature trees which have helped shape the city.

In addition to their beauty trees are also incredibly important for wildlife.

Ancient woodland and mature trees support a variety of plants and animals, including: bluebells; primroses; butterflies; moths; woodmice; badgers and a host of woodland birds.

PICKUPAPENGUIN

PPPICKUP a penguin at Xscape.

Hoards of the comical birds are currently migrating to the malls of Xscape, unable to resist the cool surroundings of its centrepiece, a giant igloo.

It is thought that the feathered creatures will spend the entire winter season here, reading stories, performing in puppet shows, hosting games and taking part in shows and story-telling sessions during the Christmas holiday.

"We are also welcoming a range of local talent this year to perform from our 'igloo-in-the-round'. Audiences will be able to see acts from any point around the stage, as it will slowly rotate throughout each performance.

"This will also include our models who will display lines from our retailers in a slightly unconventional way," said Xscape marketing manager, Steven Gordon-Wilson.

The centre was recently awarded UK's Most Visited Attraction by Visit Britain.

The planned winter extravaganza is likely to honour this title, particularly as it will be snowing in the igloo, on the hour every hour, starting at its glittering launch event on Friday, November 14 at 8pm. At the launch, you will be able to find out all of the info about the upcoming events, as well as grabbing a free glass of bubbly!

Also on that day Xscape will be launching their Penguin Adoption Pledge. With the help of visitors to the centre, they hope to be able to adopt 500 penguins in association with zoos around the country. Locally, both Woburn Safari Park and Whipsnade zoos carry out valuable research and Xscape plan to make a difference to their work with this year's event. We are lucky that Antarctic penguins have decided to make Milton Keynes their home this winter. They really will provide a great source of entertainment to people who visit us over the coming weeks,"added Steven.

Ex-Royal Marine pair are a force to be reckoned with

TWO former Royal Marine Commandos have rejoined forces to offer a new 24-hour emergency repair and maintenance service for the Milton Keynes area.

Jamie Falconer and Matt Gregg are providing the locksmith, glazing and boarding up service after signing up as the latest franchisees for Birmingham-based ReactFast.

Pals from schooldays, the duo both gained front-line experience in security and engineering as marines in Iraq and Afghanistan for seven years, before running a bodyguard business protecting US engineers working in Baghdad's volatile red zone.

The engineers, who both live in Milton Keynes, gained the necessary close protection licences and police security clearance to launch MK Locksmiths Ltd in Woburn Sands, now part of ReactFast.

The rapidly growing group responds to some 125,000 call outs a year for plumbing, central heating, electrics, locks and home security, and boarding and glazing work.

Operating with vans decked out as mobile workshops and covering a territory extending from Milton Keynes to Watford and from St Albans to Hemel Hempstead, the new franchise can be reached on the ReactFast call our number 0800 783 4292.

Jamie Falconer and Matt Gregg offer a 24-hour emergency repair and maintenance service including locksmithing, glazing and boarding up

Jamie Falconer said: "We joined ReactFast because of its reputation for being a cut above the rest and for the constant workload it can provide, and we look forward to providing customers with the highest quality of craftsmanship for all types of locks and premises speedily and tidily."

Richard Pougher, managing director of ReactFast, said: "We are delighted to welcome Jamie and Matt as our latest franchisees as we continue our dynamic growth as one of the UK's largest emergency maintenance and repair specialists."

Homebuilder signs up as partner with MK Dons

MK Dons has announced its new partnership with property developer McCann Homes.

McCann becomes one of the Club Partners, as part of a one year agreement, starting with the 2008/09 season.

Confirming the deal, Dons chairman Pete Winkelman said: "It's fantastic to see yet another local company become a Club Partner with MK Dons.

"Much like ourselves, McCann Homes is a fast-growing, forward-thinking company with its roots in the Milton Keynes community and we look forward to working with them over the next year."

Their partnership with the club will see McCann benefit from high profile signage around the stadium and pitch. They will also be among the stadium's executive box holders

James McCann, chief executive of McCann Homes, said: "We are really pleased to be a big supporter of MK Dons. We had a season ticket the year they moved to Milton Keynes and began by taking up match sponsorship opportunities.

"We have been encouraged by the Dons' success and are proud to help them grow with our city. Together we'll be working towards making great improvements in Milton Keynes as a whole."

Long tale of men's shirts

A CLOTHING shop is having a fitting celebrations for its birthday.

Although new to Midsummer Place, T M Lewin is marking the 110th anniversary of opening its London branch.

T M Lewin's shirt tale – the company sold 1.8m shirts last year alongside an expanding range of other clothing items – is a success story in spite of the credit crunch.

Last year, sales totalled £63.5m, which produced a 21 per cent increase in earnings to £11m.

Geoff Quinn, the managing director, who sits enthusiastically at the head of this retail phenomenon, said: "I have worked at T M Lewin for 28 years and could never have believed that we would be where we are now. And in another 5-10 years we can be huge. It is incredibly exciting."

"We are extremely proud of our heritage," said fellow director Robert Isaac.

"It is fantastic to work for a distinguished company which is bursting with exciting new growth, while retaining the same name for quality that it gained when Thomas Mayes Lewin opened his first shop in Jermyn Street in 1898. We have a 1903 newspaper which says he was an entrepreneur and inventor. We still pride ourselves on living up to that reputation today."

Don't be shy about retirement

UK workers are missing out on £5.7billion a year by failing to join company pension schemes.

The findings from new research conducted for Prudential reveals that 66 per cent of UK workers (full time and part time) knew their employees offered a company pension as part of their remuneration package and those polled said employers will pay an average of 11.33 per cent of earnings to their schemes.

Yet despite this, 18 per cent of these worker are failing to join the occupational pensions on offer which, based on the UK average annual salary of £19,494.80 per annum for full and part time staff, means they are turning down an extra £2,208 a year on top of their salaries.

Across the UK the 18 per cent of workers who currently have not joined their occupational schemes are surrendering more than £5billion of pension perks every year.

The research additionally found that more than one in four (26 per cent) of UK working adults believe that their employer does not offer a pension scheme as part of their employment package, this rises to 37 per cent of those aged 18-24. This is despite all companies being legally obliged to provide a stakeholder pension scheme as a minimum part of staff employment packages.

Prudential is calling for employers and their staff to work together and ensure that they take the pension benefits they are entitled to.

Martyn Bogira, defined contributions director, Prudential said: "Britons are taking voluntary cuts of more than £5billion per annum in their employers benefits by failing to join a company pension scheme.

"Missing out today on those benefits will play havoc with peoples' retirement plans in the future.

"We would strongly encourage all staff to check the terms of their company pension and ensure that they understand how much additional money they are losing out on by failing to join these.

"It is critical that UK adults ensure they are building an adequate retirement savings pot if they are to enjoy a financially secure future and avoid having to work past traditional retirement ages or having to significantly reduce their standard of living in retirement.

"Employees should check with their employer to find out what occupational scheme is available to them.

"We would encourage people to visit an IFA to ensure all their savings and assets, together with the benefits offered to them as part of their employment packages, are working for them to enable them to build the retirement fund they need to achieve their goals."

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.
The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.
Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it†.
No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

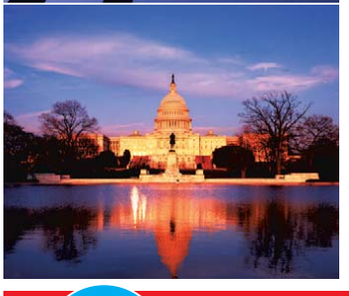
Wonderful holidays...
...at superb prices!



"From sea to shining sea", from great cities to breathtaking natural wonders, and whether it's for a few fun-packed days, or a longer break, the United States of America and its vast northern neighbour are endlessly fascinating. With outstanding value for money wherever you go, the highest standards of customer care, comfortable transatlantic flights and all the assurances that come with travel with one of the UK's leading independent tour operators, you cannot fail to enjoy all the magic of these wonderful places!

Fantastic value from just £569

Each of our holidays features return transatlantic flights, good quality accommodation, transfers and travel by comfortable coach, and the services of an experienced Newmarket Tour Manager. On all holidays, there's the chance to enjoy a range of included and optional excursions!

Join us on one of a choice of wonderful – and wonderful value - escorted tours, including the dazzling colours of the 'Fall' in romantic New England, and the even brighter lights of glittering Hollywood, Las Vegas and the awesome Grand Canyon; catch your breath as you marvel at the natural beauty of Canada's Rocky Mountains, and the delightful city of Vancouver; travel on the 'Maple Leaf Trail' from Toronto to Québec, or enjoy the warmth of the 'Deep South', in the music cities of Nashville, Elvis' home town of Memphis, and restored New Orleans – the 'Big Easy'. Finally, join a tour that takes in Boston, New York and Washington – wonderful 'East Coast Highlights', once again ablaze with all the 'Fall' colours.

Can only spare a few days? "No problem!", as they say. Join us on our choice of short breaks, and get to know either the blue-blood streets of elegant, cultured Boston, the warm welcome of Lake Ontario's waterfront city of Toronto and the mighty Niagara Falls, and – most spectacular of all – all the excitement of New York, the incomparable, unforgettable 'Big Apple'.

MKMOTORSPOTS

Save money servicing your car

VW, AUDI, SEAT, SKODA

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service where they can speak to the engineer working on their car. Our work is second to none and they still save up to 50% on main dealer prices

Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill.

We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Our workshop carry's the latest VAG approved equipment including

- VAG approved computer diagnostics
- VAG approved four wheel alignment
- Tyre fitting and computerised balancing
- Air conditioning services
- VAG trained technicians
- Reception with broadband access

We offer a full range of tuning services including engine tuning and track day preparation.

Current Offers
FREE Diagnostic check
FREE Safety Check
50% OFF Air con service

Sloppy start ends dream

A QUICK-FIRE goal and a Ronaldo-style free-kick ended MK Dons' brief fling with the FA Cup.

Dons were heading for a First Round replay with Bradford until Graeme Lee struck eight minutes from time.

But it was Omar Daley's opener inside 90 seconds that really hurt the Dons.

If anyone should know about fast goals in the FA Cup then it is Roberto Di Matteo, yet he watched as his side were torn apart having barely touched the ball.

It did not take long for Di Matteo to haul off Flavien Belson, who was having a nightmare, in an attempt to rebalance the Dons.

"We had a sloppy start," said Di Matteo, "and I think that cost us very dearly at the end.

"We went down very early in the game and had to chase the game so I brought on Kevin Gallen straight away and we got back into the game and I thought the second half was a very good performance by the team but we were not clinical enough and we got punished."

It was the lack of bite in the final third that left Di Matteo disappointed due to a spell in the second half where it looked like if any side would win, it would be the Dons.

And Di Matteo admitted it is not the first time his team have mis-placed their shooting boots.

"It's a problem that re-occurs in our team, we create enough chances but we need too many chances to score a goal. It does cost you.

"We were basically playing in their half for most of the time and creating chances."

One opportunity that came from nothing turned out to be the Dons' leveller three minutes before the break when Jemal Johnson cut in from the right to drill home from outside the box.

Amazingly it was Johnson's first goal at stadiummk though there was talking in the dressing room that Ali Gerba may have taken the final touch.

Kevin Gallen and Mark Wright had efforts fly high and wide when the Dons searched for a winner.

Di Matteo and Bradford boss Stuart McCall were both finalists in the competition during their playing days.

But it was McCall who moved a step in the right direction for another final.

The opportunity to win the game was handed to the Bantams on a plate when Miguel Llera brought down Michael Boulding, handing the visitors a free-kick from 25-yards.

Llera escaped a red card but Lee, who said Cristiano Ronaldo inspired his delivery, smashed the back of the net.

Dean Lewington admitted the defender was lucky to remain on the pitch.

"If I'd have been Bradford I'd have calling for a red card but we got away with it and they punished us."

So for the second year running the Dons are left to wonder what could have been.

There's always next year.

HARTLEPOOL
League One
Saturday, November 15
Victoria Park KO 3pm

DONS face a stern test this weekend in the form of Hartlepool United.

Pool boast a good home record with only one defeat at Victoria Park in the league this season.

The other six games on their own turf consist of four wins and two draws.

But life on the road for former Dons boss Danny Wilson has been a different story, his Pools have lost five times on their travels.

Yet their home performances have kept them in tenth place and hunting for a place in the play-offs.

However, Roberto Di Matteo's side are impressive away from their own stadiummk.

Away from home Dons have picked up 13 points from 21 available and in doing so they have built a good challenge at the top end of the table.

Dons will be boosted by the return of loan stars Luke Chadwick and Jason Puncheon, who were unavailable for the FA Cup.

Willy Gueret will also be challenging Lewis Price for the number one goalkeeping spot as he returns from suspension.

MK Dons' home fixture with Colchester United will be live on Sky Sports.

Due to the television cameras selecting the match the date has been changed for the clash.

It was due to take place on Saturday, January 10 but will now be played on Monday, January 12, kick-off at 7.45pm.

ROBERTO Di Matteo and Sam Baldock have missed out on October's Manager of the Month and Player of the Month awards respectively.

The Dons had four wins and a draw to reach fourth place in the table.

But despite being short-listed, Di Matteo, in his first season in management, lost out to Bristol Rovers manager, Paul Trollope.

Baldock, who scored four goals in October, was beaten to the player award by striker Rickie Lambert to make it a Bristol Rovers double.

MK Dons have unveiled a special ticket promotion for the match against Scunthorpe United. The Dons, in conjunction with MK NEWS, are offering four tickets for just £20.

The four tickets can include as many adults or children as you require, but the offer is limited to four tickets per person ordering.

To take advantage of the special offer, supporters must book online via www.mkdons.com - terms and conditions do apply for the offer and can be found on the Dons' official website.

LAST night a Dons side took on Bracknell Town in the Berks and Bucks Senior Cup.

Log-on to www.mk-news.co.uk to find out how they got on.

THE MK Dons Sport and Education Trust have announced a number of evening football coaching sessions.

Children aged between 3-16 can take part in the session where they receive training from FA qualified coached.

A number of venues across Milton Keynes are available, log on to www.mkdonstrust.co.uk for more information.

Scimitars put to the sword but Phantoms scrape win

MK LIGHTNING 6
SHEFFIELD SCIMITARS 1

PETERBORO PHANTOMS 4
MK LIGHTNING 3

A SPIRITED comeback was not enough for MK Lightning to take maximum points.

Lightning were trailing their biggest rivals Peterborough Phantoms 4-1 with twenty minutes remaining and almost took the game into overtime when they struck twice in the final period.

The display was all the more impressive due to a list of injuries picked up in the game.

Adam Radmall did not ice, Nick Poole limped off with a leg injury, then Lightning lost Andre Smulter and Christie Lewis in the second period.

Lightning had been leading one nil through Smulter's goal but when the side were interrupted by injuries Peterborough found the back of the net four times for a strong advantage.

Yet Lightning would not go down without fighting with Ales Parez and Lukas Zatopek scoring to bring MK right back into proceedings.

But they missed out on the points as time ran out before they could find a fourth goal.

It was a superb showing from Poole's side and one that built on a dominant performance against Sheffield Scimitars just a day earlier.

Lightning, in their new Mo'vember charity kit, recorded their biggest win of the season against a poor Sheffield outfit.

Planet Ice were treated to glorious ice hockey in a game where Lightning were able to ice three juniors with Jacob Heron, Ross Green and Jake Scriven all featuring.

Gary Clarke turns in front of the Sheffield goal

Picture Jez Tibbetts

It was the best possible start for Lightning when Parez scored with 49 seconds on the clock, and Poole doubled the lead on five minutes.

Matt Towalski netted a pass from James Archer two minutes later in a power play.

The scoring slowed down from there as Sheffield finally found their feet.

However, it was another moment of ill discipline that cost the visitors when Adam Carr made it 4-0 late in the second period.

Sheffield managed to claw a goal back midway through the third but Lightning ended strongly with Smulter and Parez netting to end the game.

Lightning are now sixth in the English Premier League and have two games in hand.

■ LIGHTNING host Wightlink Raiders Saturday, face-off at 7pm, then on Sunday they travel to Guildford Flames, face-off at 6pm.

VICTORY over London Capital ended a run of five straight defeats for MK Lions.

But hopes of a winning streak were put to bed early when the Lions slipped up at home to Plymouth Raiders the following day.

The Lions briefly regained seventh place, a spot that will take them into the play-offs at the end of the season, but fell back down to eighth after losing by nine points on Sunday.

BASKETBALL

Lions would have taken plenty of confidence from their narrow win at London Capital in a game where both sides stood toe-to-toe until a late break.

Yorick Williams chose the game to rediscover his form while Terrell Brown hit five points early in the first quarter during his comeback from a knee injury.

Despite the combination of Gariba and Deng putting 15 points onto the board for Capital it was the Lions who led 21-24 at the break.

In the next period London matched the Lions' 21 points, then hit just the one extra point in the third to set up a thrilling finale.

With ninety seconds remaining the teams were tied at 79 before Lions hit five straight points, three from Williams and two from Tommie Eddie to seal the game.

It was a similar story for the Lions when they played host to Plymouth but this time it was the opposition that stole the points at the death.

The visitors started stronger opening up a 8-12 lead before the Lions came back to within a point at 12-13 midway through the first period.

Although the Lions fell 15-26 behind they were able to overturn the deficit to a 36-32 lead at half-time.

Lions were able to extend their advantage to thirteen points until a 13-2 burst brought the Raiders right back into contention.

A five point lead with four minutes left was not enough for the Lions as Raiders broke the game open with a stunning 17-2 finish to snatch the win.

■ LIONS are not back in action until Friday, November 21.

Tommie Eddie: Sealed the game

Struggling Olney hit for sixth

RUGBY

SOUTH WEST TWO EAST DIVISION

SIX defeats have left Olney struggling with life in a new league.

Cheltenham were the latest side to take the points from Olney with a 36-15 reverse win at the weekend.

The team have managed two wins this season, since their promotion from the Southern Counties North Division, which have proved vital in keeping them off the foot of the table.

Olney were dealt an early blow when they lost Tom Taylor-Davis to injury in the first half, but as it turned out his replacement Rhys Peakman proved an important player.

Cheltenham began to tighten their grip on proceedings when Peakman, playing at centre, broke free for two superb tries.

A conversion and penalty kick from Richard James gave Olney a chance of a comeback but Cheltenham proved too strong.

Olney remain third from bottom heading into their match with Trowbridge on Saturday.

BLETCHLEY were also given a cruel lesson in rugby as they were thrashed 48-5 by Swanage and Wareham.

The two teams are level on points in the league but looked miles apart when Swanage ran rampant on their home turf.

Swanage did open a quick three point lead with a penalty but Bletchley surprised their hosts minutes later.

From the restart Bletchley surged back up field allowing flyhalf, and captain, Kevin Turnball to bypass tackles before offloading to Jack Couzens to score between the posts.

But that was as good as it got for Bletchley as Swanage came back with a bite.

By half-time Bletchley's hopes of taking anything from the game were more or less gone.

Swanage took a massive 34-5 lead in at the break.

Bletchley's defence tightened up in the second half though they still leaked 14 points.

It does not get any easier for the side as they host league leaders Reading at Manor Fields this weekend.

Wembley date

FORMER Red Bull Racing driver David Coulthard has signed up for the Race of Champions.

The 37-year-old retired from Formula One two weeks ago but is already getting back on the track.

Coulthard will be one half of Team F1 Racing Great Britain, his team mate is yet to be named.

The Scotsman said: "After a long, hard season, it's great to be able to kick back with an event that's so much fun.

"Without the pressure of the F1 season we can really relax and have fun with our driving, and that can only mean a great spectacle for the fans.

"It's also a chance for us to give something back to them for their support."

Current Red Bull drivers Mark Webber and Sebastian Vettel are also set to take part in the race around Wembley.

The stars will take to the track on December, 14.

Master lifter

POWERLIFTER Paul Lockett has qualified for the British Masters which take place next year.

Bletchley-based Lockett took part in the divisional South Midlands qualifiers where he lifted a total weight of 415kg.

He successfully defended his over 50's title with a 140kg squat, 105kg bench press and a 165kg dead lift.

As well as the gold medal Lockett received the honour of 'best lifter' in the competitions and now has the chance to represent Great Britain in the European Championships next year.

‘Lay off refs’ says Di Matteo

Officials defending their decisions in public will not alter result of games

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

REFEREES do not need to explain the controversial decisions they make, that is the opinion of Roberto Di Matteo.

The officials have come in for a lot of criticism lately from the Premier League right through to League Two, prompting the Football Association to re-emphasise their Respect campaign.

Comments from high profile managers such as Sir Alex Ferguson and Joe Kinnear have raised the debate as to whether referees should publicly defend their match changing decisions.

But the Dons boss disagrees, he said: “My question is, ‘is it going to change the result of the game?’

“Even if they say ‘it wasn’t a penalty’ or ‘it was a penalty’ what can you do afterwards? We’re all human, we all make mistakes.

“Unfortunately it belongs to football. It’s always been there, it’s difficult to remove it unless we have technological help it’s going to stay the same.”

Di Matteo would have plenty of reason to ask for explanations from the men in black with numerous penalty decisions and dismissals going against them.

He added: “I’ve had issues, but I’ve tried to keep my mouth shut. Sometimes you can’t keep your mouth shut and in the heat of the game, if it’s pretty obvious that the referee makes a mistake, you can’t just keep quiet, you have an outburst.

MK Dons players look bemused as Bradford players celebrate the winner on Saturday

“You’ve got to control yourself a little bit because obviously you’re in public and you should be a role model.

“They say things even themselves out over the season, we hope so.”

Dons will be hoping there are no dubious decisions this Saturday when they travel to Hartlepool for another tough away game.

Despite being in a prime position for a play-off spot Di Matteo believes the best is yet to come from his team.

He said: “I’m never happy to be honest, you can always do better. But considering all the challenges we have faced since the beginning we can be happy with where we are.”

An injury list that is growing by the day could limit their options against former Dons boss Danny Wilson and his Hartlepool side.

They could be without top goal scorer Sam Baldock (hamstring) and defender Jude Stirling (knee) for the trip to Victoria Road, both missed training yesterday, as did Flavien Belson (groin).

However Dons have received the boost that Aaron Wilbraham is back in full training after six weeks on the sidelines.

Di Matteo added: “He’s an important player for us, we’ve missed him. Even though we got a few results without him, he’s a big asset.”

It is an asset that the Dons will need to get the best out of if they are to pick up three points.
